

Year 6 Home Learning – 22nd May

- The fastest recorded raindrop was 18 mph
- Clouds look white because they are reflecting sunlight from above them
- There are ice caves in Iceland that have hot springs

MATHS

Log in to sats companion and complete the reasoning test set.

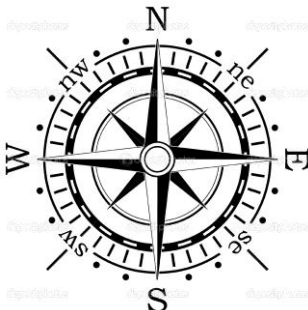

ENGLISH

Log in to sats companion and complete the reading test set.

Geography

A compass can be further split into more points that are more specific in describing location.

These new readings are North West, North East, South West and South East. There are 45 degrees between each point. For the task, you will also need to know that clockwise is the direction the pointers move around the clock. Anti-clockwise is the opposite direction.

Using the attached sheet, work out which direction you would be facing after reading each instruction.