Make Arrays

Notes and Guidance

Children begin to make arrays by making equal groups and building them up in columns or rows.

They use a range of concrete and pictorial representations alongside sentence stems to support their understanding.

Children also explore arrays built incorrectly and recognise the importance of columns and rows.

Children explore arrays to see the commutativity of multiplication facts

The commutative property simply means that switching the order of the numbers in a calculation does not affect the answer.

$$2 \times 5 = 5 \times 2$$

Watch this BBC video on arrays

Build an array with counters to represent the apples.
Complete the sentences.

There are ____ apples in each row.

There are ____ rows.

____ + ____ + ____ = ____

There are ____ apples altogether.

Practical Activity

An array is a way of lining up objects so they are easier to multiply.

Enter the number of rows in the answer box.

Use arrays

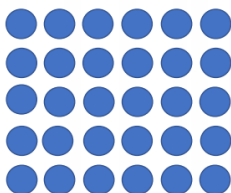

All of the number sentences can be used to find the total of the array.

5 + 5 + 5 + 5 + 5 + 5

6 + 6 + 6 + 6 + 6

5 lots of 6

2 × 5 + 2 × 5 + 2 × 5

6 lots of 5

3 × 5 + 3 × 5

White Rose Maths

English

As we're thinking about the food we eat this half term, we're going to begin our lesson today by thinking about the different foods we eat.

- What are some of your favorite foods?
- Make a list of as many different foods as you can think of.
- Can you explain why you like the foods? What sorts of food do you not like? Why not?

Task 1

Read the non-fiction text 'What is a Healthy Diet'

Look at the list of features of a non-fiction text below and then see if you can find them and label them on the example we have attached. Match the feature with the description.

Feature	Description

Title/Heading	to explain what the picture is showing
Paragraph	This gives you extra information and tells you something interesting label	A picture to show that the subject is a real thing.
Sub-title	these can be found in the glossary where you will find the meaning of the word.
Fact box	Comes above a paragraph to tell you what it will be about.
Words in bold	Tells you what the page is going to be about.
